

The European Society for Traumatic Stress Studies

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS:

ESTSS FUTURE INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP GROUP 2025-2026

What does the Future International Leadership Group entail?

The European Society for Traumatic Stress Studies (ESTSS) has established the "ESTSS Future International Leadership Group" active since 2019. The members of this group are highly dedicated young professionals in the field of psychotraumatology in Europe. The aim is to promote a network of young professionals interested in the field of psychotraumatology and allow them to develop their leadership qualities and gain international experiences. Group members are elected for a two-year term.

Requirements and Expectations

- We are looking for European early career researchers in psychotraumatology (PhD students or clinical post-doctoral up to 4 years post-PhD).
- Proficiency in the English language is required.
- Members of the future leadership group work together with experienced colleagues in ESTSS committees on a range of strategic activities. The estimated time for these activities is about 8 hours per month.

Benefits

- Collaboration with society leaders and respective committees
- Support in initiating activities, taskforces and SIGs
- Eligibility for waiver to the ESTSS biennial conference
- Opportunity to actively participate in and co-organize ESTSS meetings and events

Contact and Application

- Send your application until 31 October 2024 to ESTSS Executive Secretary Zoran Sukovic via secretariat@estss.org
